MEETING ADJOURNED

Educators at Denver Conclude an Interesting Session.

PAPERS AND ESSAYS READ

Election of Officers for the Various Sections—Resolutions Adopted—Executive Committee to Name Next Meeting Place.

Denver, July 12.—At the morning session of the National Educational association's convention to-day "Instruction and Improvement of Teachers Now at Work in Schools" was the general subject of discussion.

Professor Arvin Olin of the State university, Lawrence, Kan., read a paper on "Teachers' Institutes," which he said was to the teachers what the newspapers were to the ordinary scholar.

Professor Earl Barnes of Stanford university, California, followed with a paper on "Teachers' Classes."

The "Reading Circle" was treated by L. H. Jones of Cleveland, Ohio.

The papers were discussed by Mrs. A. J. Peavy, state superintendent of Colorado; James M. Green of Trenton, N. J.; N. C. Shaffer, state superintendent of Pennsylvania; John R. Kirk, state superintendent of Missouri.

The elections of officers for the various sections resulted as follows: Higher education, James H. Baker, president. Business—Frank Goodman, Nashville, Tenn., president. Kindergarten—Miss Amelia Hofer, Chicago, president. Secondary education—L. L. Harris, Cincinnati, president. Music—C. H. Congdon, St. Paul, president. Manual and industrial—C. H. Keyes, Pasadena, Cal., president. Natural science—Charles E. Bessey, University of Nebraska, president. Art department—Walter S. Goodenough, Brooklyn, president. Normal education—John W. Cook, Normal, Ill., president.

The vote on place of next meeting was as follows: Los Angeles, 12; Duluth, 9; Asbury Park, 7. The matter was finally left to the executive committee.

At the opening of the evening session the resolutions committee made its report, which was in part as follows:

Resolved, That the members of the N. E. A. so far as possible, attend the congress of education in Atlanta. Second, that the board of directors make suitable provisions so far as practicable to secure a more representative educational exhibit at the Cotton States Exposition. Third, that to this end the committee be appointed at this meeting to cooperate with the United States commissioner of education.

Resolved, That recognizing the growing greatness and grandeur of our country, conscious of closer union among all our people, the National Educational association heartily endorses the general movement throughout the country in the direction of education for American citizenship. In the firm belief that our schools must make our citizens, we commend the spirit which finds expression in placing the national flag upon our school houses, in the increased attention to school exercises which tend to a greater love and veneration for the flag and in the observance of national holidays in our schools. We regard this movement as not inculcating an education or preparation for war, but as inspiring a deeper love of country, reader obedience to established law and order, firmer respect for our institutions. As the interests of the whole nation are more carefully regarded, as sectional feeling dies away, we recognize the great opportunity afforded to the obligation resting upon our schools to place a higher value upon patriotic citizenship, and we recommend a systematic course of instruction which shall give a broader view of patriotism and morality, a higher regard for the rights of citizenship, of society, of property, of the security and sacredness of human life. In this connection we commend the great work which has been accomplished by the various organizations throughout the country, while having their foundations in patriotic purposes, exert their efforts for the maintenance of peace and for the settlement of international disputes through arbitration. We recommend to our historians the importance of placing before the people of our country a fuller history of what has been accomplished by arbitration to secure peace throughout the world.

Resolved, That the national bureau of education, through the personal influence of its head, and by the dissemination of most valuable information, has made itself indispensable to the general advancement of education. That we hereby earnestly recommend to our representatives in congress that more adequate provision be made for more needed and increased efficiency, in reasonable provision for building its offices, its library and its museum, and for the more liberal preparation and publication of educational information.

Resolved, That this association commends the fidelity of its officers under whose management so large a fund of money safely invested, has been accumulated, amounting, with the proceeds of this meeting, to more than $20,000; that we further recognize that this is an educational rather than a financial organization, and that the warrant of its existence must be found in its ability to discover great ends of usefulness and to expand its accumulations wisely rather than in hoarding them, and therefore, that we cordially approve the action of the national council in the appointment of a special committee to investigate the condition of the rural schools of this country regarding their organization, conduct and support, and to report upon the most feasible plans for their improvement in these respects whereby the youth of the country may enjoy, in a reasonable measure, the advantages that are common in cities and villages; and in support of this action the request of the council for an appropriation to meet the necessary expenses of this committee is approved.

Resolved, That we heartily appreciate the efforts of our government to bring every Indian child under appropriate instruction in the elements of conduct, industry and letters, and to free the Indian school service from the evils of partisan influence; that we emphatically approve its efforts to systemize Indian education under professional leadership; that we cordially sympathize with Superintendent Hallman's appeal to the teachers of the land for active interest on their part in the civilization of the Indians, and for a concerted effort to bring the Indian under the same law with the white man in the several states of the union; that we heartily approve the efforts to educate Alaskans, and especially in the care and use of the reindeer as an industry and as a means of saving them from starvation and affording them food, shelter, and transportation, and that we believe congress should extend to Alaska aid in settling the questions of productive industry by experiment stations and the several states by its appropriations for agricultural stations.

After the induction of the president, N. C. Dougherty, into office, the convention adjourned sine die.

'TIS MOST INHUMAN

CHILDREN STRANGLED AND OUTRAGED IN LONDON.

Lecherous and Murderous Flocks Committing Acts of a Revolting Nature—Police Authorities Baffled.

London, July 12.—A series of outrages and murders of little girls of ages ranging from 4 to 7 years, has created great excitement among the working classes in the district of Walthamstow, seven miles northeast of London. Within two months five little ones have been decoyed from their homes and vanished completely. Searching parties have subsequently found their bodies in the fields stripped of all their clothing, and giving evidence of the most outrageous treatment. In every case the victims have been children who have been playing along the road side or on their way in the discharge of school errands. The immediate cause of death in every instance has been strangulation.

The police inquiry points to a well-dressed man of 30, but here the clue stops. Only one of the many victims has escaped death. She was 4 years of age. After having been subjected to horrible treatment she was found lying in a field by persons whose attention was attracted to her cries. The child was unable to describe her assailant. Several half-witted men have been arrested on suspicion, but they have been able to establish alibis and were liberated. The miscreant usually hides the bodies of the victims in secluded places in the fields and under hedges and covers them with leaves.

Open debates of live Endeavor teachers at each of the meetings were earnestly participated in. The address of President E. A. Turner, D.D., of Lincoln, Ill., whose subject was "I Thought, Therefore, I Can," delivered in Mechanics' building, produced much enthusiasm. The praise and prayer services at the morning meetings were not a bit less earnest than they have been since the convention opened and with the chorus singing, continued to be the greatest inspiration of the gatherings.

President A. E. Turner, A. M., in his address at Mechanics' hall, said: "We can purify politics. The largeness of the field is attested by the long list of civic federations, investigating committees and reform leagues. When the sentiment of the community becomes so outraged that its citizens gather in the city council chamber and threaten mob violence against the law makers, and when a stockholder in an immense manufacturing enterprise decides to withdraw his holdings because it is clear that the corporation has secured valuable franchises by foul means, it would seem that we are not ready to rest upon our oars." The topic, "The pledge the backbone of society; its necessity and its paramount value," was opened by O. W. Stewart of Eureka, Ill., and reports were received from various states. California hoped to have 24,000 signatures of the pledge by 1897. Illinois reported she was trying to clean out the city of Chicago. This was greeted with applause.

At the meeting in tent Williston, President Francis E. Clarke of Boston presided. He introduced Rev. W. J. T. Closs of Sydney, Australia, who said: "We have 150,000 Christian Endeavorers in Australia, and please God, we are growing every day. With God's blessing, I extend the greeting of the Australian union to you."

Rev. John Pollock of Glasgow, Scotland, was introduced, and the greeting he extended in behalf of the society in his country to fellow workers throughout the world elicited cheers and applause. The open parliament which followed discussed "The feet and hands of the society; how they are employed." Rev. J. A. Rondthaler conducted the parliament and representatives of a dozen states participated.

At the tents the crowds were larger than yesterday. The open debate followed on the topics: "The heart of the society" and "The consecrating meeting; how to make the most of it." J. W. Fife of Chicago conducted the services. At noon evangelist rallies were held throughout the city by delegates. At 2 p. m. some 14 meetings, announced collectively as "schools of practical methods of committee work," were held in various churches and halls in the city.

Codes and salaries. Special Dispatch to the Standard. Helena, July 12.—The political code makes the salaries of county officers payable quarterly. Attorney General Haskell to-day gave an opinion that such salaries shall continue to be paid as before.

This opinion is based on the special enactment of the last legislature that the acts of 1894, relating to payment of county officers' salaries were continued in force.

'TIS A GREAT THROING

Christian Endeavorers Everywhere in Effete Boston.

MEETINGS IN MANY PLACES

They Gather 25,000 Strong in Three of the Largest Auditoriums in Massachusetts' Capital—Enthusiastic Workers.

Boston, July 12.—Thousands of delegates to the Christian Endeavor tonight attended three mass meetings in Mechanics' hall and tents Endeavor and Williston. Unwearied by the fervor of the huge morning meeting in these centers, not tired by the earnest noon rallies in different places where congregated the toilers of Boston, and unsatisfied with the encouragement gained at 15 general committee meetings this afternoon, the Christians gathered 25,000 strong at big meetings at the three great auditoriums of Mechanics' hall and tents Endeavor and Williston.

The morning session of the convention in tents Williston and Endeavor and Mechanics' hall were attended by the same great hosts that were there yesterday. Before 9 o'clock the throng crowded the steps at the entrance of Mechanics' hall, singing Endeavor songs, while they waited admission. As yesterday, hundreds were unable to secure admittance to the hall and repaired to the tents. The sessions this afternoon partook more of a business character than their predecessors, interesting reports of the information committee and reports from the denominational meetings taking up the hour of meetings in the tents.

The presentation of the state banner for the greatest proportionate increase in number of local societies was made by Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Minneapolis, in Mechanics' building; of the state banner for the greatest absolute gain in number of societies by Rev. F. E. Hamilton of Newtonville, Mass., in tent Williston, and of the junior state banner for the greatest proportionate and greatest actual gain in number of societies by Rev. J. F. Cowan, D.D., of Pittsburg, Pa., in tent Endeavor.

Addresses on "Cardinal Principles of Christian Endeavor" were made at Mechanics' building by Rev. Knight Chapman, D.D., of London, and Rev. O. H. Smith, D.D., of Evansville, Ind., in tent Williston by Rev. W. J. Closs, Sydney, N. S. W., and in tent Endeavor by Rev. J. L. Tolmont, Belfast, Ireland, and Rev. F. P. Rose, Montreal. Owing to the international call of the speakers, the addresses attracted much attention.

Open debates of live Endeavor teachers at each of the meetings were earnestly participated in. The address of President E. A. When the final heat was called the four to line up were Bald, McDonald, Murphy and Zeigler, the latter all bandaged after his fall of yesterday and presenting a sorry spectacle. Bald took the lead in the start, followed by Murphy, with Zeigler and McDonald trailing. In the finish Bald set the pace, McDonald alongside, and just as the tape the latter made a phenomenal jump and landed ahead of Bald over the tape. The audience cheered McDonald, but the judges gave the decision to Bald.

TROUBLE WITH INDIANS.

Idaho Bannocks Killing Game in Wyoming—Fight Enues.

Denver, Colo., July 12.—A special to the News from Cheyenne, Wyo., says: United States Marshal McDermott is in receipt of a telegram from Fort Washakie, to the effect that a fight has occurred between the settlers of the Jackson Hole country and the Bannock Indians in the northern part of Fremont county, and that one Indian has been killed and 15 taken prisoners.

The fight was the outcome of the attempt of the constable and posse to arrest the Indians for the unlawful killing of game and the constable was held up at the point of their guns. After the constable had sent for reinforcements the citizens took the matter up with the result that a fight occurred with above results. Some apprehension is felt that the disturbance will cause an outbreak among the Indians. The Bannocks are Idaho Indians and they annually come into Wyoming and slaughter game. Citizens are determined to put a stop to their depredations, and it is thought more trouble will ensue.

The Weather. Washington, July 12.—Montana: Fair; southerly winds shifting to westerly.

SHE HADN'T A BEARD

IN OTHER RESPECTS SHE RESEMBLED A MAN.

Most Virulent Type of the New Woman Arouses All the Newsboys and Loafers at a Chicago Depot.

Omaha, July 12.—The newest thing in the new woman was in the city at the Union depot for a few minutes yesterday morning and aroused as much stir and caused as much excitement as a yellow dog with a tin can attached to his caudal appendage. She had the appearance of the new woman of the most virulent type, and she did not seem to care who knew it. She was a school teacher from the East, and she was going through with a party of teachers to the Denver meeting. She was dressed in man's costume from head to foot, long brown tweed trousers, a double-breasted coat of the same material, across which a gold watch chain extended, and a small hat.

In a very few minutes after she got off the car a newsboy spotted her and yelled: "Say, catch on to do woman in man's clothes." This attracted the attention of all the other boys, and when they followed her about the attention of every one about the crowded depot was attracted. This did not phase her, however, and she kept up her promenade up and down along the depot platform until her train pulled out.

Dun's Report. New York, July 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say: A business food, so strong and rapid that conservatives fear it may do harm, is out of season in July. But the seasons this year lay over and crowd each other. May frosts and frosts, it is now evident, kept back much advanced business that would naturally have been finished before midsummer, and the delayed accumulation of one season gets in the way of the efforts to begin another on time. But the volume of business, however, it may be assumed, is remarkably large for the month, even in a good year. The exaggerated fears about the crops have passed, the syndicate is believed both able and determined to protect the treasury and the time draws near when the market for wheat will turn into a national balance if speculation in this is not hindered.
